

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to a systematic in silico method to identify new coding sequences, including homologs of coding sequences, in S. cerevisiae and 5 other organisms. The present invention is also directed to novel ORFs and the proteins encoded thereby identified using the in silico methods.